Head Coach

25th Season at Maryland • Massachusetts '72

Bob Nelligan enters his silver anniversary 25th season at the helm of the Maryland gymnastics program as one of two Terrapin coaches at Maryland with more than 20 years of service. In that time, Nelligan has been the driving force behind the Terps' success. His love for the sport and for his athletes is unique in today's world of gymnastics and has earned him the respect of the gymnastics world and his pupils.

With a lifetime coaching record of 392-334-2 (.540), Nelligan has witnessed and adapted to the numerous changes that collegiate gymnastics has undergone. As gymnasts have gotten stronger, so has Nelligan's recruiting of the top gymnasts in the country. During Nelligan's career with the Terps, they have qualified for the NCAA Southeast Region Championships 12 times, including six consecutive times from 1983 to '89 and four consecutive times from 1998-2001. The Terps have moved closer to qualifying for the NCAA Championship meet in the last few years, barely missing the opportunity in 2001, finishing in third place at the regional meet just behind then-No. 2 Georgia and then-No. 12 Florida. In addition, the Terps have been ranked in the top 25 for the last four years.

Prior to the Terps' entrance into the Southeast Region in the 1983-84 season, the Terps competed in the East Region and qualified for the championships four of the seven seasons that they were members. Nelligan is one of several active coaches at Maryland who have been with the Terps for 20 years or more. Nelligan has the respect of all of his colleagues at Maryland and nationwide, and is recognized as one of the top gymnastics coaches in the country. In 1999 Nelligan was acknowledged for his contributions to collegiate gymnastics when he was honored as both the East Atlantic Gymnastics League Coach of the Year and Southeast Region Coach of the Year.

Maryland's level of success is only achieved through a strict regiment of training and conditioning, which Nelligan implements on a year-round basis. Nelligan is constantly striving to be the best and expects his gymnasts to do the same, both in athletics and academics. Last season the Terps were awarded ten All-EAGL first team awards and two second team honors. Senior Gillian Cote capped her career by being named the league's Scholar-Athlete and Leah Brill was named the EAGL Rookie of the Year. In 2001, in addition to having six All-EAGL first team selections and seven All-EAGL second team selections, Maryland had 13 gymnasts earn All-EAGL academic honors, surpassing the team record of 12 from 1999. Nelligan is responsible for ensuring that this level of success is constantly maintained. He is the Maryland Terrapin team leader, and the dedication and enthusiasm of the Terrapin gymnasts is a direct reflection of Nelligan's attitude and work ethic.

Even though his work with the gymnastics team consumes most of his time throughout the year, Nelligan still finds time to focus his energies on several other projects. He is the Assistant Director of the Maryland Gymkana Troupe, the only touring exhibitional gymnastics troupe in the country. They perform nationwide and have become a main attraction on the Maryland campus. Nelligan is also the co-founder of the Maryland Gymkana Camp and on numerous occasions has been a guest lecturer in the College of Health and Human Performance Department. He is also a director and master staff member at the Woodward Gymnastics Camp in Woodward, Pa., and is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches, the U.S. Elite Coaches Association and the University of Massachusetts Alumni Association. Nelligan has also taught numerous classes regarding athletics and is striving to take athletics to another level through his pioneering of a wellness program for all of the varsity athletes at Maryland. This program is currently in the process of being implemented to each varsity sport and will ensure that athletes achieve their highest potential through the best means possible.

Originally from Braintree, Mass., Nelligan has more than 25 years of gymnastics experience. Prior to accepting the position of head coach at Maryland for the 1978-1979 season, Nelligan worked in various capacities at the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. From 1973 to 1975 he was a physical education instructor at the Masters School and also coached several teams, including gymnastics, lacrosse and softball. In addition to these responsibilities, Nelligan was named the Chairman of the Physical Education Department in 1975 for the Masters School. From 1972 to 1973 Nelligan was the head instructor and coach at the Marvateens Gymnastics School in Rockville, Md., and before that was an instructor and coach at the Weymouth South School in Weymouth, Mass. Nelligan received his B.S. in physical education from the University of Massachusetts in 1971.

Nelligan and his wife, Chris, have two children; Brett and Kelsey.

Assistant Coach

5th Season at Maryland • Michigan '96

The 2003 season marks Wendy Marshall's fifth year as the Terrapins' assistant coach. Marshall, who made a dramatic impact in her first few years, continuously brings energy and determination to the Maryland women's gymnastics team. A 10-time All-American, Marshall epitomizes the level of enthusiasm and perfection that comes with making a Terp gymnast and was rewarded for her efforts at the end of 1999, earning Southeast Region Assistant Coach of the Year honors.

At Maryland, Marshall has helped the team increase its success. She has coached the Terps' beam team since the 1999 season, coaching them to a season-long top-six national ranking. In 2000, Maryland's beam competitors were ranked as high as No. 5. Her enthusiasm is great motivation for the team and she is bound to make many more positive things happen during her time at Maryland.

Each summer for the past eight years, Marshall has been a member of the senior coaching staff at the University of Michigan Gymnastics Camp in Ann Arbor. In addition, from fall 1996 until the summer of 1998, Marshall was a physical education teacher, the head of the intramural program and head gymnastics coach for Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor. In both seasons with the Pioneer gymnastics team, the squad won the conference championship.

Marshall earned a full athletic scholarship to the University of Michigan in 1992, and was a four-year varsity letterwinner and two-time Michigan co-MVP. She was one of the Big Ten Conference's most enthusiastic performers and an extremely consistent and solid gymnast each season with the Wolverines.

In Marshall's first season at Michigan, 1993, she was named a NCAA second team All-American on vault and earned All-Big Ten Conference honors. She tied for sixth on vault at the NCAA Central Region Championships, placed sixth in the all-around, 10th on vault, and also finished third in the all-around (39.25) and seventh on beam (9.85). Her outstanding season continued at the Big Ten Conference Championships where Marshall finished second in the all-around (39.275) and on floor (9.9), third on beam (9.8) and fourth on vault (9.9) as Michigan won its fourth consecutive conference championship.

In 1996, Marshall earned Big-10 Gymnast of the Year honors and also received the Phyllis Ocker Award for academics and athletics, and the Bob Ufer Spirit Award. Marshall earned first team All-American honors on beam, floor, and in the all-around, and All-Big Ten Conference honors. As a senior, Marshall finished in fifth place in the all-around at the NCAA Championships.

The Marshall-led Pioneer gymnastics team was ranked No. 8 in the 1996-97 season, marking the first time in school history that the program was ranked. In the 1997-98 season, the Pioneer gymnastics team qualified for the region championships and had several individual state championship qualifiers and three All-Americans. They finished the season ranked No. 3, the second time in as many years that they had been ranked in the top 10.

Marshall graduated from Michigan in 1996 with a bachelor's degree in kinesiology, majoring in physical education with a communication minor. She currently resides in College Park, Md.

2003 season preview

The 2003 season is all about new changes for the University of Maryland women's gymnastics program. Moving into the new Comcast Center from Ritchie Coliseum, the Terps bring with them a new team, and a new attitude. Entering his 25th season as head coach, Bob Nelligan is presented with every coach's dream. His 2003 squad is beaming with talent and skill, comprised of solid veterans and what has been heralded to be "the best recruiting class in the history of the women's gymnastics program." Expectations are high for the Terps this season and their goals are clear-cut. Maryland looks to win the EAGL Championships and reach the NCAA Championships as a team.

The Terps have regrouped after losing five seniors to graduation, including all-around All-American Gillian Cote and NCAA alternate qualifier, Lisa Mealey. Maryland's roster is loaded with depth including nine veterans and six new faces.

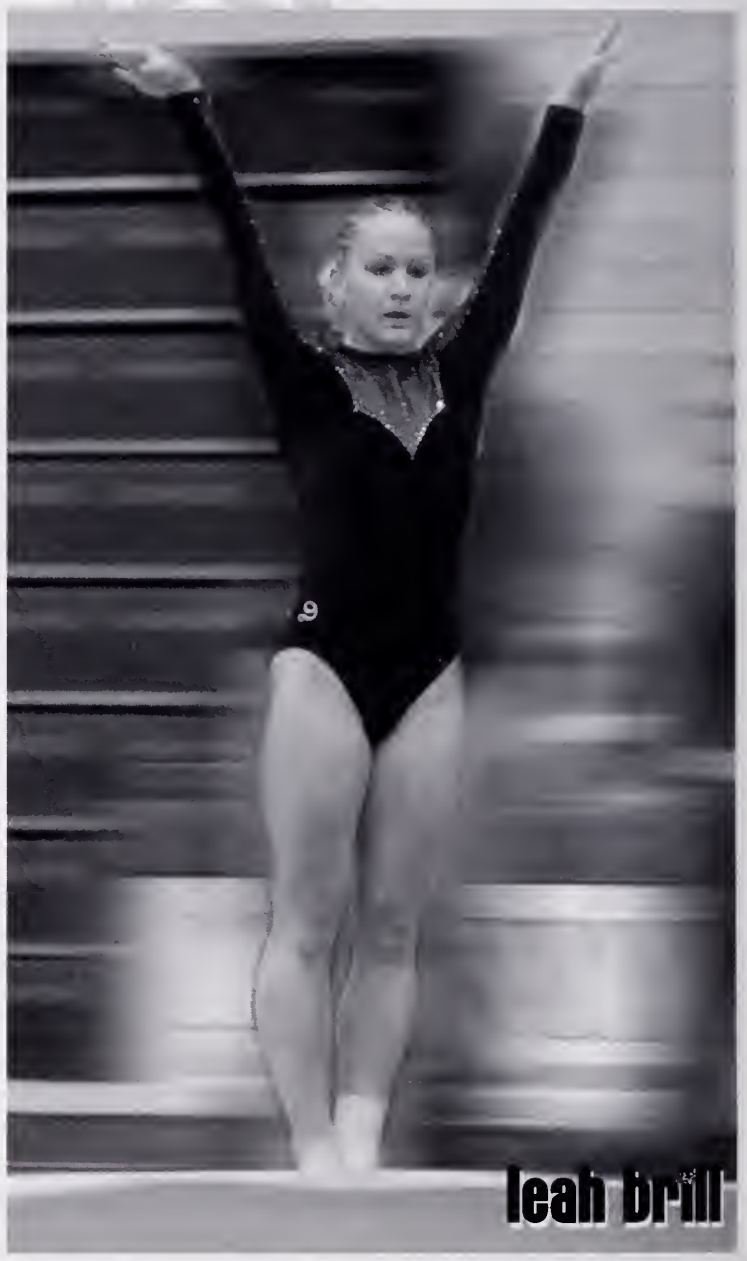
Leading the Terps this season will be co-captains, senior Stacey Celenski and junior Katherine Schroeder. Celenski is coming off a successful 2002 season, where she notched a career-high 9.800 on the beam at the EAGL Championships in Towson. Additionally, she is solid in the vault, posting a career-high 9.625 her freshman year. Schroeder is expected to step up big for the Terps this season.

"Kat is healthy and sporting a new 10.0 vault along with a Tkatchev on bars. This team co-captain means business," Nelligan said. Schroeder, a 2002 Academic All-American, had a breakout season last spring, posting career-highs of 9.725 and 9.800 on the vault and uneven bars, respectively.

Senior Catherine Gardner returns to the lineup as well, giving the Terps consistency in all events. This three-time Academic All-American's work ethic is apparent to both her coaches and teammates. "One word to describe Cat would be solid. Day in and out, we can always count on her to post good scores. The team has gotten accustomed to depend on her to pull out consistent scores, a role she has grown into nicely," Nelligan said.

Juniors Sarah Hoenig, a 2002 NCAA Regional participant, and Rachel Sibert round out the upperclassmen troupe. In addition to being Maryland's strongest beam competitors, Hoenig is also among the nation's top beam workers. At the NCAA Southeast Regional meet, Hoenig placed seventh on the beam with a 9.875 and also earned All-EAGL first team honors in 2002. Her career-high on beam is 9.900, a mark she has posted with consistency both her freshman and sophomore seasons. Hoenig brings grace to the floor competition as well, where she received a season-high 9.750 last spring. Sibert will re-join the Terps this year after redshirting 2002 with a shoulder injury. "It was tough last year without Rachel because she is great on the vault as well as the bars. We are glad to get her back," Nelligan said.

Sophomore Leah Brill returns as well for the Terps. Brill had a picture perfect rookie year, winning the EAGL Rookie of the Year award and earning a berth to the NCAA Southeast Regional meet. She was Maryland's lone freshman to compete in the all-around in 2002. Joining her will be sophomores Ashley Oberdorff and Lequita Williams. Both Oberdorff and



leah brill

Williams found success on the bars in 2002, earning career-highs of, 9.575 and 9.725, respectively. Williams' 9.725 came at the EAGL Championships, proving her toughness under pressure. After redshirting 2002 with an ankle injury, sophomore Mandy Pascual will earn her first chance to adorn the Maryland red and white this season.

Entering this mix of experienced veterans are six incoming freshmen. "The season is going to be interesting for the freshmen," Nelligan said. "They are young and are used to a different approach on the junior level."

Leading the list of newcomers to watch is Rachel Martinez. Martinez's decorated junior career includes the 2002 Junior Olympic National vault title. Martinez earned All-American honors and was a national elite vault and floor champion. Freshman Alexandria Gatch will add her artistic flair to the floor program and can be counted on to deliver solid beam routines. Gatch placed third at the USAIGC nationals on beam. Local Rebecca Ruppert, the strongest athlete on the team, was a two-year Junior Olympic competitor, as well as a 2002 Washington Post All-Met selection. Ruppert's achievements also include a Level 10 vault title. Freshmen Kristi Skowronski and Cameron Logan also bring depth to the squad. Skowronski, an elite and Level 10 competitor, won first place on vault at the 2000 regionals. She also captured first place on bars at the New Jersey State AA in 2001 and on the floor at the 2001 regionals. Logan was the 2002 Florida state floor champion and a two-time Level 10 national competitor. Newcomer Ginny Scott will be sidelined in 2003 due to injury, but is expected to make a difference when healthy. Scott is a four-time Junior Olympics national competitor.

As for the lineup for specific events, Nelligan is posed with the difficult task of picking out the sweetest pear from a field of ripe fruit. "I could, for instance, name some who are going to be strong competitors in beam but then in practice, someone will step up big and make me restructure my game plan," Nelligan said. "That is what is great about this team; there is so much depth with this squad that it will come down to the percentages of hit routines we see from each athlete to determine her place on the team."

Fall practices and the December intrasquad has allowed Maryland to assess its strengths and weaknesses. The Terps are going to be stronger on the vault in terms of depth and higher skill level. Martinez will be sporting a 10.0 full twisting Yurchenko vault. All three – Schroeder, Hoenig and Sibert – will incorporate the half-twist Yurchenko. The uneven bars will be the biggest improvement area for Maryland this season, with every Terp having a major release skill. Sibert will be sporting a Geinger release while Martinez, Gatch, Skowronski, Pascual Schroeder and Logan have mastered the Tkatchev release. The beam and floor have always been Maryland's stronger events, anchored by Hoenig and Gardner.

Maryland's 2003 schedule features home meets against EAGL opponents West Virginia, Towson and Rutgers. The Terps also face EAGL foes NC State and North Carolina along with Towson at the annual Governor's Cup in Raleigh on Feb. 8. The EAGL Championships move to Durham, N.H. this season and take place on March 29.

As for their new facility, Comcast Center, Nelligan is looking forward to starting a new era in the team's new home.

"Ritchie [Coliseum] was small and intimate. Comcast is more user-friendly because of the location of the training room, the locker room and the media. We can't wait for the fans to fill the gym up and cheer us on."

TERP TALK WITH STACEY

As co-captain I will... Help to lead my squad as best as I can. Kat and I are a great team, and together we should be able to handle any situation that would be put before us. We will handle all things with a positive attitude and will do whatever is best for our team.

Why is vault your best event? Vault is a really strong event for me because of my good technique and strong legs.

My personal goals for 2003 are ... My personal goals for my senior year are to compete and excel on vault and beam. I want to be able to be the best that I can be in those two areas especially because they are my best events and that is where I see myself helping the team the most.

My team goals for 2003 are... This is the best team that Maryland has ever had and we deserve to go to the NCAA's this year. It is so important to make each individual score count in every competition in order for us to continue climbing up the national ranks. This is such an exciting time for our team because the talent that we have is beyond anything Maryland has ever had before. Together, we are going to thrive.

2002 season review

Maryland was looking to finish 2002 with a storybook ending to cap off the careers of its senior class. However, things fell short of expectations, and despite being ranked as high as No. 17 nationally, the Terps failed to qualify for regionals as a team for the first time since 1997. Despite the ending, Terps can be proud of the 2002 season, highlighted by the sending of five representatives to the NCAA Regional meet, finishing third at the EAGL Championship, and earning numerous individual merits. At the end of 2002, the team finished as the No. 29 team in the country, with a 16-7 regular season record.

The Terps' seniors included 2001 NCAA All-American and co-captain Gillian Cote, NCAA Regional participant and two-time NCAA Championship alternate Lisa Mealey, Kit Johnson, Alyssa Mealey and Chrissy Samwell. Head coach Bob Nelligan labeled this group as "the most important class of my career," and he allowed his veterans to lead Maryland into 2002.

The Terps edged George Washington in their home opener, 194.550-193.850. Johnson won the balance beam competition, with a school record-tying score of 9.950.

The tough schedule pitted Maryland against No.1 Georgia and Temple for their second home match-up. In spite of finishing second in the tri-meet, sophomore Sarah Hoenig led the way, by matching her career best of 9.900 on the balance beam. On another high note, freshman Leah Brill eased her way into the Terp lineup, earning an all-around spot on the team.

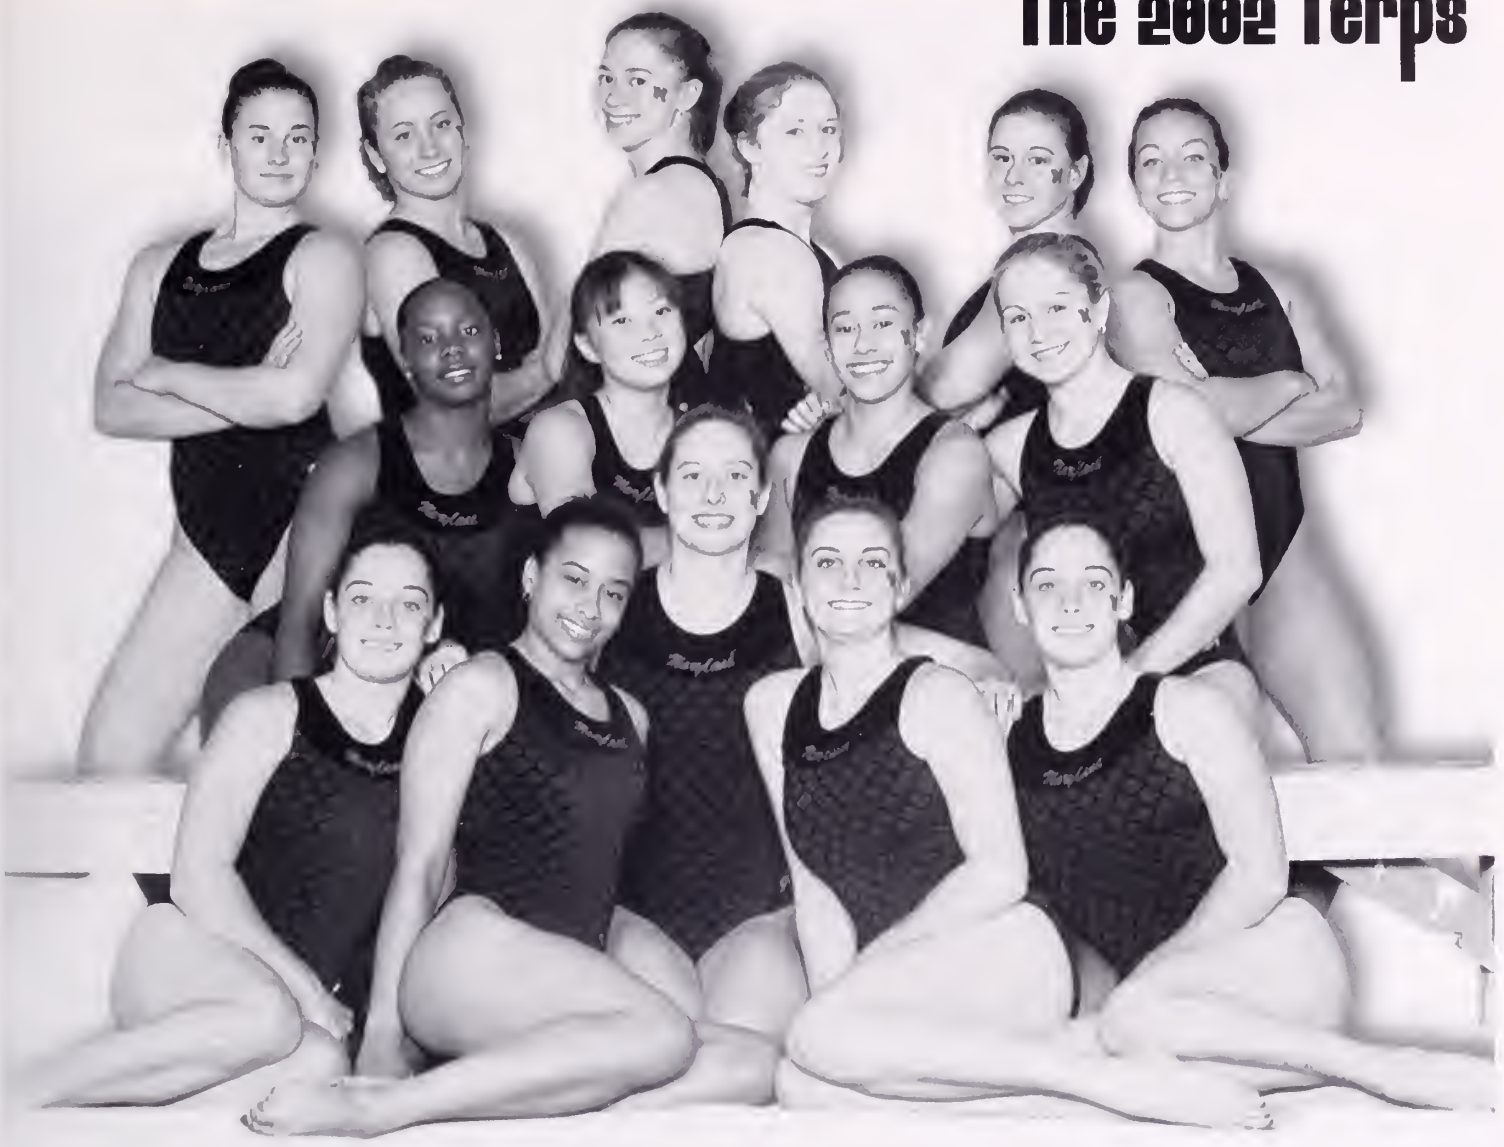
Things brightened up for Maryland as the Terps went on to claim the seventh-annual Governor's Cup in early February. Cote earned her first all-around win of the season in the team's win over East Atlantic Gymnastics League opponents, North Carolina, NC State and Towson.

With the win, Maryland climbed to No. 22 in the nation and Lisa Mealey climbed to No. 11 nationally in the all-around. However, Maryland fell to conference foe West Virginia in the quad meet, 193.875-194.400. Even in the loss, Lisa Mealey continued her consistency, placing first on the uneven bars.

Coming back strong, Maryland defeated Atlantic-10 opponent Rhode Island 196.100-194.875, the team's highest score of the season and the fourth-highest in school history. Cote won the all-around in the win and Lisa Mealey placed first in the vault and floor exercise portions.

Before traveling to Towson for the EAGL Championships, the

The 2002 Terps



Terps notched another win, defeating William & Mary and EAGL opponents Towson and Rutgers in the final home meet. Lisa Mealey won the all-around with a score of 39.275. Freshman Brill posted a career-high 9.825 on the beam.

Entering the conference championships in third place behind NC State and West Virginia, Maryland concluded the day with a third place finish as well. North Carolina won the EAGL, with a team score of 196.425, followed by West Virginia which finished with a score of196.025. The Terps came in next with a score of 194.825, ahead of five other conference teams. Notable performances were given by Cote, who posted a 9.850 on the vault for fifth place, and a 9.900 on the bars for second place; Lisa Mealey placed fifth in the all-around with a 39.375.

Following the EAGL, five Terps advanced to compete in the southeast NCAA Regional meet. Cote, Lisa Mealey and Brill competed in the all-around competition, Hoenig was selected to represent the Terps on the beam and Alyssa Mealey competed on the floor exercise.

At the regionals, Lisa Mealey placed eighth in the all-around with a 39.150 to lead the five Terps. The finish earned Mealey a spot to travel to Alabama for the NCAA Championships for the second straight year. Hoenig placed seventh on the beam with a score of 9.875. Cote earned a 9.800 on both bars and beam, whereas Brill was unable to compete because of an injury.

However, Brill did earn EAGL Rookie of the Year honors for her season-long performances. She became the third Terp to earn the rookie honor.

The women's gymnastics team excelled in the classroom as well, winning the Sixth Annual President's Cup for having the top cumulative GPA of all of Maryland's women's athletics teams in 2002.

The team was also presented with the C.H.A.M.P.S./Life Skills award for being the women's team to garner the most points in the C.H.A.M.P.S. program.

Academic accolades were awarded to individual athletes as well. Cote was named to the 2001-02 Verizon All-Academic team for the second straight year; she maintained a 4.0 GPA over her four years at Maryland. Also, Cote won the EAGL Scholar-Athlete Award for the second consecutive year. She was also one of the ACC's Weaver-James-Corrigan Postgraduate Scholarship recipients. Teammate Johnson was the recipient of the 10th annual Arthur Ashe Jr. Sports Scholar of the Year Award.

2002 eagl review

Last year's EAGL championship meet produced the biggest surprise in the league's brief history as North Carolina shattered the meet scoring record in winning its first EAGL championship ever. The Tar Heels had never finished higher than fourth in any of the previous six EAGL Meets.

Sophomore Anna Wilson led the Tar Heels with a sixth place finish in the all-around (39.20). Carolina had a meet record score with a 196.425, a mark that also set a school record. Defending champion West Virginia was runner-up (196.025) while Maryland took third place (194.825). North Carolina came on strong to win the championship in the final two rotations.

The Tar Heels had a 49.55 team score on floor and a 49.05 team score on vault to pull out the title for Coach Derek Galvin, the EAGL Coach of the Year. Wilson led the Tar Heels' winning effort on the floor exercise. She won the meet with a 9.975 score. Sophomore Maddy Curley tied for second place with a 9.95 while freshman Olivia Trusty tied for seventh place (9.925). In addition to winning the floor exercise, Wilson tied for 11th on vault (9.80) and had a 9.65 on bars. She also took 19th place on beam (9.775). Trusty also had a great meet. In addition to tying for seventh on floor and second on vault, she tied for second place on bars (9.90). The Tar Heels' team effort enabled them to overcome several tremendous individual performances by West Virginia. Junior TeShawne Jackson, senior Kristen Macrie and junior Amanda Halovanic finished one-two-three in the all-around competition.

Jackson won the EAGL all-around title for the second year in a row, setting a meet record with her 39.575 score. Macrie was second in the all-around (39.55) and Halovanic took third (39.425). Jackson also won her second straight EAGL vault title, winning the event with a 9.925 score. Sophomore Jen Clarke was Towson's lone individual champion as she shared the balance beam title.

Kristen Presutti of Towson, the EAGL Gymnast of the Year, placed fourth in the all-around with a career high 39.40 score. She also tied for second place on vault (9.875) and tied for tenth on beam (9.825). On the floor exercise, she tied for second place with a career high 9.95 score. Kristen also sang the National Anthem prior to the meet.

Four of the eight teams in the EAGL advanced to NCAA regional competition last season as North Carolina, West Virginia, New Hampshire and Pittsburgh all qualified.

EAST ATLANTIC GYMNASTICS LEAGUE

history of the eagl

Starting its eighth season of competition, the East Atlantic Gymnastics League (EAGL) has developed a reputation as one of the most well-balanced leagues in NCAA Division I gymnastics.

The East Atlantic Gymnastics League became a reality on July 31, 1995 when eight prominent universities banded together to form a consortium created solely for the purpose of showcasing women's gymnastics on the East Coast.

Representing three conferences and six states, the EAGL is comprised of the University of Maryland, the University of North Carolina and North Carolina State University of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the University of Pittsburgh, Rutgers University and West Virginia University of the BIG EAST Conference and the University of New Hampshire and Towson University of America East. In August, 1996, the NCAA Council accepted the EAGL as an official affiliated member of the NCAA.

EAGL schools have had a long history of gymnastics success. Prior to joining the EAGL, Towson won eight Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) championships while New Hampshire won four ECAC titles. West Virginia won four straight Atlantic-10 Conference titles before leaving that league to join the EAGL.

Prior to joining the EAGL, seven of the eight schools had competed in the NCAA regionals. Towson, New Hampshire and West Virginia had all gone on to NCAA championship competition. Towson was ninth in the nation in 1990 while UNH qualified for nationals in 1994 and WVU made the trip in 1995. In 1982, Pittsburgh produced the NCAA bars champion, Lisa Shirk.

Last year's EAGL championship meet produced the biggest surprise in the league's brief history as North Carolina shattered the meet scoring record in winning its first EAGL championship ever. The Tar Heels had never finished higher than fourth in any of the previous six EAGL Meets. The complete recap can be found on page 26.

The 2001 EAGL Championship Meet was a memorable one as it was staged in front of a record crowd of 2,384 at the Dean Smith Center on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

The meet featured the first two perfect 10.0 scores in EAGL Championship history.

Led by TeShawne Jackson, West Virginia won its third EAGL championship with a meet record 196.375 score. Jackson won the individual all-around title with a 39.375 score. She also finished first in the vault with a perfect 10.0 score, the first 10.0 score in EAGL Championship Meet history.

Jaime Hill contributed to the West Virginia cause by tying for first place on bars with a 9.925 score. Dinorh Boyd, the co-winner of the EAGL Gymnast of the Year award, also did well at the EAGL Meet as she tied for third place in the all-around with a 39.275 score.

Led by Jill Fisher's perfect 10.0 score on floor exercise, Maryland turned in a very strong performance. The Terrapins had a 195.875 team score to finish second in the meet.

The Mountaineers were one of four teams that advanced to NCAA Regional competition from the EAGL Meet. Maryland, New Hampshire and North Carolina State also qualified for regionals while Towson barely missed making it.

Although no EAGL teams qualified for Nationals, Jill Fisher and Gillian Cote of Maryland earned berths at the National Championship Meet as individual all-arounds. At the National Championship Meet at Utah, both Fisher and Cote became All-Americans. Fisher had a 9.90 on the floor exercise to become a first team All-American. Cote had a 39.05 in the all-around, earning second team All-American notice. They became the first two All-Americans in Maryland gymnastics history.

The 2000 season marked the third year in a row that an EAGL team went to the NCAA Championship Meet. In addition, four EAGL teams were ranked in the final NCAA Top 25 and seven of the eight EAGL teams advanced to three different NCAA Regional Meets.

West Virginia finished second in the Region 2 Meet at the University of Minnesota, earning a second straight trip to the NCAA Championship meet at Boise State. Rutgers, Pittsburgh and New Hampshire all competed in the Region 5 Meet at Penn State where the Scarlet Knights turned in an impressive fourth place finish while Pitt and UNH were fifth and sixth.

Bob Nelligan being awarded his 1999 EAGL Coach of the Year trophy.

At the Region 6 Meet at Georgia, EAGL champion NC State, Maryland and Towson all competed. Towson nearly qualified for Nationals by finishing third in the meet with a 194.325 score, just 0.375 points behind second place Brigham Young. BYU advanced to Nationals while Maryland and NC State were fourth and fifth in the regional.

At Nationals, West Virginia finished 12th in the nation with a 194.175 team score. The NCAA National Championship appearance was the Mountaineers' second in a row and third trip since 1995.

In addition, the EAGL was represented at Nationals by Gabi Weller of Towson and Laura Moon of Maryland, each of whom qualified as an individual all-around. The co-winner of the EAGL Gymnast of the Year award, Weller became the league's third All-American as she earned first team honors in vault. She tied for fourth in the nation with a 9.90 score and became the first Towson gymnast to be named first team All-American.

The fifth annual EAGL Championship Meet was the most competitive in the league's brief history. The top four teams were separated by less than one point as NC State came from behind to win its second straight EAGL championship. The Wolfpack turned in a very strong effort on bars and floor to overtake Maryland and win the title with a 196.000 team score. NC State's 196.000 team score was just shy of the meet record that the Wolfpack set in 1999 as the team won its first EAGL crown.

Juniors Amy Langendorf and Kara Charles led NC State to the title. A first team All-EAGL selection on bars and all-around, Langendorf tied for second place in the EAGL all-around competition with a 39.275 score. She also tied for fourth place on bars (9.90) and beam (9.80). Charles finished fourth in the all-around with a 38.975. Senior Jennifer Sommer also had a big meet for the Wolfpack. She tied for first place on beam (9.85) and tied for fourth on floor exercise (9.90).

Host Pittsburgh had its best EAGL finish ever as the Panthers were runners-up with a 195.275 score. Senior Danielle "Freddie Alba" led Pitt to the second place finish. She tied for second place in the all-around with a 39.275 score and tied for first place on the balance beam with a 9.85. Maryland took third place in the meet with a 195.05, just ahead of fourth place Towson (195.025).

Weller won the EAGL all-around title with a 39.30 and she tied the EAGL record in winning the vault (9.925). Kristen Macrie of West Virginia finished first on bars, tying the EAGL record with a 9.95 score. Jill Fisher of Maryland set an EAGL record as she won floor exercise with a 9.975 score.

In 1999, EAGL schools represented the league quite nicely. For the second year in a row, an EAGL school went to the NCAA Championship Meet. In addition, six of the eight EAGL schools qualified for NCAA regional competition and EAGL schools finished one-two at the USA Gymnastics Championship Meet.

West Virginia University, winner of three of the first four EAGL championships, advanced to Nationals and finished 12th in the nation. The Mountaineers qualified for Nationals by finishing second in the Region 6 Meet at WVU.

The league just missed having two teams qualify for Nationals as North Carolina State was the alternate. The Wolfpack, who won the 1999 EAGL Championship, had finished third at the Regionals.

West Virginia's appearance at Nationals came on the heels of NC State's appearance at the 1998 Nationals. In 1998, the Wolfpack went to Nationals for the first time in school history and finished 11th in the nation.

West Virginia and NC State were two of six teams that went to NCAA Regional Meets in 1999. New Hampshire and Pittsburgh went to the Region 5 Championship at Penn State while Maryland and Towson joined West Virginia and NC State at the Region 6 Meet.

At the 1999 USA Gymnastics NIT Meet, Towson edged Rutgers for the pretigious championship. It was Towson's second NIT title in four years.

When the season ended, the EAGL had three teams in the top 20 (West Virginia, NC State, Maryland).

In 1999, NC State ended West Virginia's run of three consecutive championships as the Wolfpack had a school and EAGL Championship record score of 196.05, edging host Maryland which had a 195.475 score. New Hampshire was third with a 194.80 and North Carolina took fourth place at 194.675.

Sophomore Brooke Wilson of North Carolina was the outstanding individual performer at the EAGL Meet. She took first place in the all-around with a 39.325 score and set a meet record on beam with a 9.95, taking first place in the event. Senior Liane Williams of Towson, honored as the EAGL Senior Gymnast of the Year, was a double winner as she won the vault with a 9.875 and tied for first on floor with a 9.90.

Langendorf and Charles led NC State to its first EAGL title. Langendorf tied for first on bars with Dawn Campbell of Rutgers with a 9.9 score. Charles was fourth in the all-around with a 39.175. Kelli Brown also had a strong meet, tying for second place in vault with a 9.85 and tying for third on bars with a 9.875.

Maryland finished as EAGL runner-up with a 195.475 as Coach Bob Nelligan was named as the EAGL Coach of the Year. Freshman Laura Moon was second in the all-around (39.275) while Terp freshman Gillian Cote, the EAGL Rookie of the Year, was ninth in the all-around.

Junior Danielle "Freddie" Alba of Pittsburgh, the EAGL Gymnast of the Year, took third in all-around with a 39.175 score.

For the second straight year, six teams advanced to NCAA regionals from the EAGL Meet.

In 1998, the EAGL Meet was held at Rutgers University and six of the eight teams qualified for the NCAA Regionals. West Virginia, North Carolina State and Maryland all qualified for the Southeast Regional while New Hampshire, Pittsburgh and Rutgers made it to the Northeast Regional.

West Virginia won the meet for the third year in a row with a 195.50 score. New Hampshire edged N.C. State for second place as the Wildcats posted a 193.85 score to the 193.825 earned by the Wolfpack. Maryland finished fourth in the meet with a 192.675, edging Towson as the Tigers posted a 192.45 score, barely missing a 12th straight NCAA regional berth.

Senior Umme Salim of West Virginia led the Mountaineers to the championship. The EAGL Gymnast of the Year, she was first in the all-around with a 39.45 while also winning the bars (9.95) and beam (9.925).

In 1997, North Carolina State hosted the meet and West Virginia claimed its second straight title. The 11th-ranked Mountaineers had a 196.00 team score to edge the Wolfpack (195.100) for the title. New Hampshire was third (193.10) while Pittsburgh was fourth with a 192.85. North Carolina (192.325) finished fifth, ahead of Towson (192.100), Maryland (191.755) and Rutgers (190.05).

Towson's Erin Shanley became the first EAGL gymnast to successfully defend a title as she earned a 9.925 on bars to tie Pittsburgh's Samantha Salyers for first in the event. Shanley also won the vault with a 9.90 while UNH's Cara Lepper and WVU's Danielle Lilly tied for first on the beam with a 9.90. Kristin Quackenbush won the EAGL floor title with a 9.95 effort, a score that clinched the championship for WVU.

Quackenbush tied Stephanie Wall for the all-around title in very tight competition. One-tenth of a point separated the top five all-arounds. Quackenbush and Wall each had a 39.10 while Shanley was third with a 39.05. WVU's Umme Salim was fourth with a 39.025 and Kim Yenco of Towson took fifth with a career best 39.00.

The EAGL was well-represented at the NCAA Regionals for the second year in a row as West Virginia, North Carolina State and Towson advanced to the Southeast regionals while New Hampshire and Pitt qualified for the Northeast regionals.

Quackenbush was honored as the EAGL Gymnast of the Year as well as the Outstanding Senior Gymnast. North Carolina's Molly Gardner was named as the EAGL Scholar-Athlete. Maryland's Rachle Dolbin was named the EAGL's Top Rookie while Dick Filbert of Towson was named as the EAGL Coach of the Year.

North Carolina State became the first EAGL team to represent the league at the NCAA National Championship Meet. The Wolfpack had a 195.125 to finish third at the regional meet at Georgia, qualifying for nationals. In its first trip to Nationals, NC State had a 194.125 score and finished 11th in the nation.

The crowning jewel of the inaugural EAGL season was the league championship meet, hosted by West Virginia. In a competition that came down to the last rotation, West Virginia tallied 194.60 points to edge Towson's 193.725. North Carolina State was third with a 192.30, followed closely by Maryland (192.15), New Hampshire (191.70), North Carolina (189.30), Pitt (189.15) and Rutgers (188.00). The meet also produced the second largest crowd (1,648) to watch a gymnastics meet in the WVU Coliseum.

West Virginia's Quackenbush won the all-around title with a 39.275 score while Towson's Erin Shanley, Maryland's Megyn Byrnes and Karla Hairston of WVU tied for second at 38.925.

In the individual events, Shanley was a double winner, tying for first on bars (9.90) and floor (9.80). Quackenbush won the vault outright with a 9.925. On bars, EAGL Co-Rookie of the Year Cara Lepper of UNH matched Shanley's 9.90 to tie for first.

Co-Rookie of the Year Liane Williams of Towson and Jessica Nonnemacher of WVU tied for first on the balance beam with 9.825 marks. On the floor, Meredith Behson of Rutgers and Christi Newton of N.C. State tied Shanley for first.

Newton was named as the first EAGL Gymnast of the Year as well as Outstanding Senior Gymnast in a vote of league coaches. Sari Lehmuskallio of Towson won the EAGL Scholar-Athlete Award with her 3.96 grade point average in mass communication. She graduated from Towson in just three years. West Virginia's Linda Burdette was the EAGL Coach of the Year. In the post-season, Towson won the USA Gymnastics National Invitational Tournament title with a school record 194.525 to edge powerful Iowa for the title. West Virginia's Kristin Quackenbush tied for third in vault at the NCAA championships, becoming WVU's and the EAGL's inaugural All-American.

While the EAGL has enjoyed a very successful run, the success of the league has not been limited to athletic competition. Last year, 76 gymnasts were members of the EAGL All-Academic team. In seven years, a total of 516 student-athletes have been named to the EAGL All-Academic team.

New Hampshire will host the eighth annual EAGL Championship. The meet will be held in Durham on Saturday, March 29.

Bonnie Bernstein

From Maryland Gymnastics to CBS Sports

Following a four-year career (1989-92) as a gymnast at Maryland, Bonnie Bernstein went on to work for ESPN and is currently with CBS Sports.

"Receiving a scholarship was, in itself, an honor; but more important, it allowed me to spend valuable time participating in internships that prepared me for my career, instead of working my way through school. That scholarship is still paying dividends, years after my time in College Park."

Jill Fisher

Maryland's First Perfect 10

10

Gymnastics: Fisher gets the program's first perfect score.

By Rishi Barran
Special to the Diamondback

TOWSON – Terrapin junior transfer Jill Fisher achieved perfection for the second time in her gymnastics career. She scored a 10 in the floor exercise of the No. 23-ranked Terps' 195.950 victory at the four-team Governor's Cup in Towson Friday.

"The 10 felt awesome, it was really great," Fisher said. "I'm so glad everything fell into place. The whole team set me up pretty well. [Sophomores] Laura [Moon] and Gillian [Cote] went out there and did a phenomenal floor routine which really helped my score to go up. They both went before me and did flawless routines and that created a domino effect which really helped me out."

GYMNASTICS
Terps 1st out of 4 teams

Fisher, who scored a 10 on the floor as a freshman with Massachusetts in 1998, helped the Terps set a school record for points and improve to 7-3 (4-0 East

Junior gymnast Jill Fisher, who transferred this season, has scored perfectly on the floor twice in her career

Fisher Facts

- Scored first perfect 10 in Maryland history on the floor exercise at the Governor's Cup at North Carolina on Feb. 4, 2000.
- Scored first perfect 10 at the East Atlantic League Championships at North Carolina on March 24, 2001.
- First Maryland gymnast to earn two consecutive perfect 10's (March 19, 2001 against George Washington and March 24, 2001 at the EAGL Championships).
- In just two years at Maryland, Fisher earned a 9.9 or higher on floor twenty times.
- Finished the 2000 regular season as the No.1 floor competitor in the nation.
- Finished the 2001 post-season as the No. 4 floor competitor in the nation.
- One of the first two gymnasts to receive NCAA All-American honors.

The 1999 Terps

The 2000 Terps

comcast center

Maryland's new student activities building and home of Maryland Athletics was completed in fall 2002. Comcast Center's main arena provides a seating capacity of 17,950 fans for basketball, and will serve as a campus site for university special events and select community events.

An additional 1,500-seat gym serves as home to the Terps' gymnastics, wrestling and volleyball teams, and the Nextel Heritage Hall multi-purpose room (capacity 400) is equipped to host banquets, press conferences, large meetings and serve as a pre-game restaurant suite overlooking the competition arena.

The Comcast Center also houses the university's athletics administration offices and includes a 7,000-square-foot Academic Support Center, providing an enhanced study atmosphere for the school's nearly-700 student-athletes on 25 teams.

The Terrapins' first public event for basketball was its annual Midnight Madness celebration. Both basketball teams have state-of-the-art facilities at their fingertips including locker room and lounge areas, training areas complete with jacuzzis, and outstanding weight training facilities.

Twenty suites provide enhanced viewing and entertainment capabilities for Maryland fans. Maryland's student seating capacity accommodates 4,000, with students ringing the first 10 rows around the floor and a majority of seats on the arena's west wall.

Comcast Center is an excellent place for alumni and fans to enjoy their favorite sports and share their common Terrapin spirit. Visitors will learn about the men and women who have made Maryland Athletics great as they stroll through the dramatic Terrapin Walk of Fame and History. And the Terrapin Team Store, located just off the soaring three-level atrium lobby, allows visitors to outfit their pride. Maryland has once again reclaimed the status of having the best student activities center and athletics home in the country.

strength and conditioning

One of the most unique aspects of Maryland's women's gymnastics team is the nature of its strength and conditioning program. "We have a vigorous weight program," says head coach Bob Nelligan. "We're physically more tough, and the support staff that's allowing us to do this should be applauded."

The team's strength and conditioning coach, Barry Kagan, has been a part of Maryland's strength and conditioning program since 1993 and has worked with the gymnasts for the last six years.

Barry Kagan

According to Kagan, the gymnastics weight training program is one that is constantly changing. "It's continuously adapting depending on the individual needs of the current team," said Kagan.

The primary goal of the team's program is injury prevention. Next, the weight program strives to enhance each gymnasts' performance. "Most gymnastics programs take a fairly conservative approach, doing moderate weight training," said Kagan. "We take a very balanced approach, emphasizing strength over muscular endurance, as most of the other programs do."

The team begins lifting in September upon returning to campus. The first two weeks are comprised of a learning/reacquaintance phase. "Most gymnasts don't lift in the style that we do," said Kagan. "We want to make sure they are ready to take on the more complicated lifts."

After the two-week introductory period the team progresses into a complex training program which involves several Olympic-style lifts. The main lower body exercise is the squat exercise, to enhance lower body stability. For upper body training, the women use dumbbells rather than bars to alleviate some of the stress on the shoulders. The athletes also train aerobically in September and October to prepare for full routines.

"In season, our approach becomes more of a maintenance phase," said Kagan. "We alternate the daily intensity of the lifts by organizing around the meet schedule." The women lift as a team twice a week with occasional conditioning circuits in the gym.

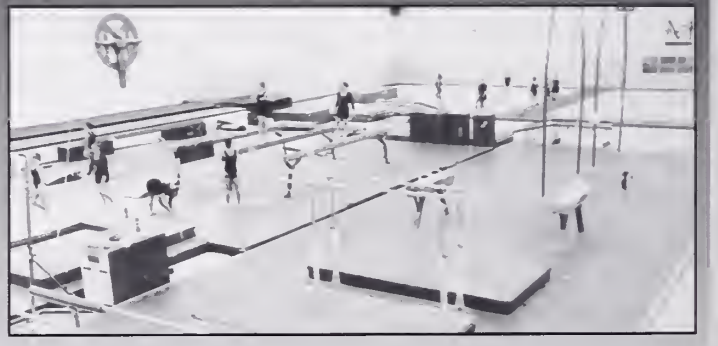
As for strength-to-body weight ratio, the gymnasts are the "strongest women in the department," said Kagan.

The Terrapins are fortunate to train in two of the premier weight training facilities in the country. Conveniently located in the Gossett Football Team House at Byrd Stadium, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the playing field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

This season, Maryland has begun to train in the spacious, brand-new, state-of-the-art weight room in Comcast Center.

Maryland gymnasts train with some of the best equipment available, including 20,000 pounds of customized York free weights, seven pieces of Keiser progressive air resistance machines, and a full line of Hammer strength equipment. The weight complex also features immense, self-contained rack stations, Olympic lifting platforms with Eleiko bumper plates, and 10 upper body pressing stations.

Practice Makes Perfect at North Gym



The Maryland gymnastics team practices in the North Gym, located near the Campus Recreation Center. North Gym is a state of the art gymnastics facility that covers 18,000 square feet. There are two spring floor exercise mats which lie side-by-side with a travelling overhead spotting rig used for vaulting as well as floor exercise. There are spotting belts that are placed above the uneven bars, the single rail bar, and the trampolines. The single rail bar, tumbling strip and vaulting area are all connected into or onto brand new fitted Tiffin resi pits. Twenty centimeter mats surround AAI uneven bars and five new AAI Elite series balance beams. One of the most attractive features of the practice facility is the lighting, which is soft and leaves no shadows anywhere in the gym. Finally, there is a glassed-in trampoline room with four-string bed Goliath tramps surrounded by spotting platforms and 12-inch landing mats.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambigu

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

about the university

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

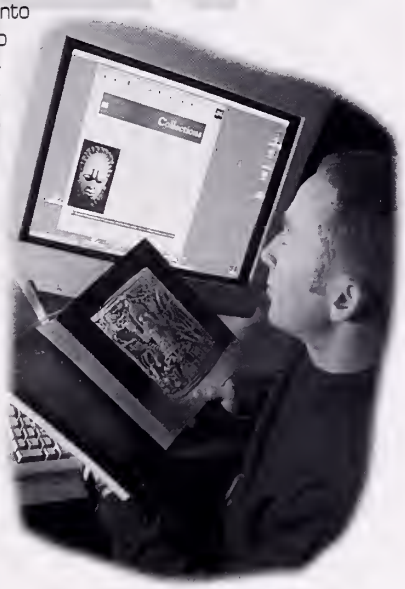
Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.



The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

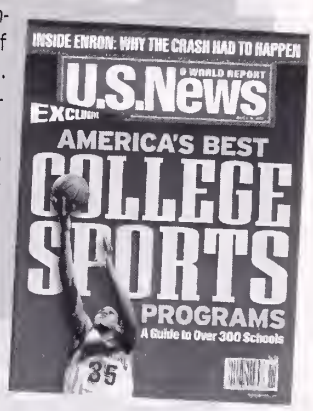
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

Did You Know?

- In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 65 programs ranked among the nation's elite.
- A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.
- Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university 12th in graduating black males with baccalaureate degrees in all disciplines. (Maryland is second among non-historically black schools.) Maryland is 23rd in black male undergraduate enrollment figures among all schools.
- The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 13 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 4 in information technology, No. 8 in faculty research and No. 7 in entrepreneurship.



- In the only undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report-business and engineering-both the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 21) and A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25. In business, the management information systems specialty was No. 7; entrepreneurship No. 12; general management specialty No. 21; e-commerce No. 8; human resources specialty No. 10. In engineering, the aerospace/aeronautical/astronautical specialty was No. 11.
- An economic impact study conducted by the economists with the Jacob France Center, an applied economics analysis center at the University of Baltimore, concluded that the University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, for a total statewide effect of nearly $1.8 billion.
- Maryland appointed William Phillips, a Nobel laureate in physics, to its faculty during the spring. Phillips will establish a world-class atomic, molecular and optical physics group on campus. The Philip Merrill College of Journalism now has five Pulitzer Prize winners on its faculty. A sixth faculty member, Eugene Roberts, directed the Philadelphia Inquirer to multiple Pulitzers as managing editor.

More, Better Students Go To Maryland

The University of Maryland has boasted its best freshmen class ever for each of the last 10 years, and the entering freshmen for 2002 are no exception. The academic credentials – high school grades and SAT scores –are again the best ever. And more of those accepted by Maryland are now choosing to enroll here.

This year,half of our freshman finished high school in the top 10 percent of their class. And the average new freshman has taken at least 11 honors or advanced classes in high school. What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation. What is more remarkable this year is how the university's successes in establishing quality programs - academic and athletic - and cementing a major role in the community, have attracted more of the best students than ever.

In its survey of the colleges of choice of top graduates in Maryland high schools last year, the Washington Post found that more than half picked the University of Maryland. No other single school was even close.

University President

Fifth Year at Maryland • California '51

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move - at an ever accelerating rate - on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a virtual cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2002 is expected to exceed 3.90, while the average SAT score is nearly 1300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. As many as 40 percent of all new freshmen are now enrolled in such programs as Honors, Gemstone, College Park Scholars and other living-learning communities that bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting.

Business Partnerships

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business and government communities in substantial and meaningful ways. Under his leadership, Maryland has provided its technological expertise to help the state improve its business processes through a Web portal and has consulted with hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program.

Mote was presented with the 2002 NCAA trophy after the men's basketball title game.

In recent years, the university also helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park. Fujitsu, the third-largest communications company in the world, shares a building with the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

Research with Impact

Sponsored research funding has more than doubled at the University of Maryland since 1990, adding significantly to the university's value as both an economic and an intellectual resource. In FY 2001, the university received $250 million in research grants, much of it directed at projects that will directly improve our social, educational and economic well-being.

Recent highlights of research funding include more than $10 million from the National Science Foundation to study a wide range of issues related to information technology, from hardware to sociological impacts of the Internet. NSF also funded two major teaching initiatives in the College of Education totaling more than $20 million and taking the university's expertise directly into Maryland schools to improve math and science instruction. Mote himself chaired an NSF-sponsored task force last year to study the feasibility of voting over the Internet.

World-Class Facilities

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; Comcast Center, which opened in fall 2002; new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience, not just a showcase to impress visitors and friends. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in last season's NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America.

deborah a. yow

Athletics Director

Ninth Year at Maryland • Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

• Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.

• Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $38 million annually and the sizable prior operating debts have been eradicated.

• Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.

• Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.

• Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.

• Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.

• Implemented a strategic management model.

• Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.

• Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

• Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).

• In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.

• Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.

• Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.

• Field hockey played for the national championship in 2001.

• Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.

• Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.

• Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.

• The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.

• In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.

• The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success ... and the basis for our bright future."

Gymnastics Sport Supervisor

Dave Haglund joined the University of Maryland athletic staff in January of 1998 following a 16-year career in the sports information office at Fresno State University. At Maryland he serves as the administrative head of the Terrapins' media relations unit, overseeing the development and implementation of initiatives to provide publicity for the university's 25 varsity sports and more than 600 student-athletes.

He was elevated to associate athletics director in February 1999, and also serves as sports supervisor for gymnastics.

A 1981 graduate of Oregon State University, Haglund began his sports information career as an assistant SID at Fresno State in 1981 and was elevated to sports information director in 1996. During the course of his career at Fresno State, he served as the primary contact person for the Bulldogs' nationally ranked Division I football, basketball, baseball and soccer programs. He also served as information director of the California Bowl (1982-83) for two years.

Haglund and his wife, Cindy, are the parents of two children: Samantha (9) and Matthew (7).

academic support and career development

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

Karen Schiferl

Associate Director Karen Schiferl serves as the Academic Support Director for the gymnastics team at Maryland.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for longtime Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for seven professional academic counselors, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for two professional counselors, a program assistant and a 23-station desktop computer center.

Student-Athlete Advisory Committee

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committtee (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence

To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation. At Maryland, ASCDU offers a variety of programs and services including: prospective student-athlete orientation, academic counseling, NCAA academic eligibility monitoring, academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops, accredited tutorial support, individualized learning program, in addition to the following academic courses: EDCP 108-K (college learning strategies and skills), EDCP 108-M (math learning strategies and skills), and UNIV 100/101 (first-year transitions to the university).

Commitment to Athletic Excellence

To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete. ASCDU hosts the spirit games that bring together student-athletes from various teams to support fellow student-athletes at home events.

Commitment to Personal Development

To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging the emotional well-being, personal growth and decision making skills. ASCDU sponsors workshops and seminars that address issues pertinent to the student-athlete, including the HERO Campaign.

Commitment to Career Development

To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process and is distributed to more than 800 corporations and businesses across the country. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Commitment to Service

To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities. ASCDU community service events include National Student Athlete Day, the Terrapin Enrichment Reading Program (T.E.R.P.) and the Midnight Madness canned food drive.

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Comcast Center may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Shaili Shah in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-1483. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home meet. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 2725 of Comcast Center, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Terps on the Web: For up-to-date game stories, statistics, schedules and results, and other Maryland athletic department information, please locate www. umterps.com on the Internet.
